Supporters of the Harrison Educational Foundation (HEF) gathered at Westchester Country Club on October 19th for a beautiful day of golf and dining. The Foundation supports curriculum enrichment programs at Harrison schools, and this year its “Swing for Science” fall fundraiser was focused on supporting major science projects. HEF recently donated $150,000 to the high school’s new black box planetarium theater and will be working with the school district on several other major science grant ideas.

“Through the generous support and participation of members in our community and corporate sponsors our “Swing for Science” fundraiser was a huge success,” said Stephen Lichtenauer, HEF’s chairman. “The Foundation is now in a great position to fund numerous projects at all six Harrison schools in the coming year.”
